What is Medical Tourism?

Medical tourism means traveling to other countries for healthcare purposes. It is also termed as global healthcare travel or medical travel as it involves crossing international borders for any kind of treatment, whether it is surgical or non-surgical, simple or complex.

Latest Robotic Guided Joint Replacement and regenerative medicine can be availed through medical tourism. Orthopedic treatments in India are considered to be superior owing to the experience and expertise of the Indian doctors.

Who benefits from Medical Tourism?

Sometimes one may not be able to avail best services either due to a prolonged waiting list or economic constraints.

Well everywhere, everything is not the best and so to avail the best, medical tourism is one of the solutions.

Even in India, people travel far to get themselves treated.

At Anup Institute of Orthopaedics & Rehabilitation – AIOR we thrive to give the best medical care to all our patient and since the hospital's inception we have patients not only from neighboring countries like Nepal, Bangladesh, or Bhutan but patients who also travel from Afghanistan, Uzbekistan for treatment.

AIOR is also proud to have the Leo 2 Robotic Joint Replacement Unit precision our stellar LEO 2 MAK0 – the smart Robotics.

Can I select my preferred hospital/clinic or provider?

Certainly, you can choose a hospital, clinic or provider of your choice. But you should consult a reliable medical tourism advisor or facilitator with adequate experience and proven track record. Ensure about the facilities available at the clinic and the quality of treatment before finalizing the choice.

Before visiting the clinic, is it possible to communicate with the physicians?

Yes. You can talk to the physicians before flying to your destination country by telemedicine appointment. Our team <https://www.aior.co.in/international-patient-services.php> will guide you and sort out all your concerns.

What happens if something goes wrong?

Doctors handle foreign patients with utmost care. They are aware that even a single negative feedback or experience, will tarnish their goodwill and global brand image. Thus, they ensure your satisfaction and safety.

Though one cannot guarantee the outcome of the surgery, this uncertainty prevails in every clinic/hospital be it domestic or abroad. However, the Indian government has taken sufficient measures to protect the interests of the foreign medical traveler through proper accreditation of hospitals/clinics to minimize the chances of health hazards.

We believe Anup Institute of Orthopaedics and Rehabilitation – AIOR is the best orthopedic surgery hospital in India due to its team of committed and experienced doctors.
